

A king for all seasons

Article Circa 1969

Bob Gaudio of The Four Seasons has become King of his own Castle in Upper Montclair, New Jersey. Gaudio, his wife and children just moved into a 32-room Elizabethan style mansion in the New York suburb.

Built 66 years ago, the mansion cost Gaudio a half million dollars. Building such a home today would cost in the neighborhood of two and half million dollars.

Gaudio has turned the whole top floor of his new home into a recording studio. The Four Seasons plan to record there as soon as the studio is completed.

Article Taken From Philadelphia Daily News Thursday July 26th, 2007

Goodtella to wed supermodel

On July 10, our colleague Dan Gross reported that Joe Pesci and Angie Everhart ("The Ex-Wives Club") had become a couple and were sharing a suite at Atlantic City's Tropicana Hotel.

The office of Pesci's manager, Jay Julien, said they were just friends, and suggesting anything different "would not be worth the paper it would be printed on."

Oh, really?

The National Enquirer reports this week the 64-year-old, 5-foot-4 Oscar winner and the 37-year-old, 5-foot-10 supermodel are engaged.

Even better, the Enquirer says Joe proposed to Angie in early July in, of all places, Atlantic City, when he got down on one knee and gave Angie an 8-carat diamond ring.

"Not worth the paper it would be printed on?"

It's 60 cents, Jay, and worth every penny.

Actor Joe Pesci (left), with model Angie Everhart and musician Tommy DeVito

Associated Press