

JERSEY BOYS, LONDON STILL GOING STRONG AFTER NEARLY 3 YEARS

Jersey Boys London, nearly three years after the Opening Night on 18 March 2008, is still going as strong as ever. This year saw two of the original cast members, Philip Bulcock and Glenn Carter, leave and we were sorry to hear that Stephen Ashfield will be leaving in March along with Scott Monello. However, the good news is that Ryan Molloy is staying for another year. Audience numbers are very good especially the Sunday performances. The Company Manager, Steve, told us "All is good here in Jersey land"! Jon Boydon replaced Glenn and Eugene McCoy replaced Philip. We heard from Jules Saney who told us "Jon is absolutely brilliant as Tommy. He plays the part with a little more menace than Glenn and has similar stage presence. Eugene, although his accent is less convincing, is a more demonstrative Nick than Phil was. He gets more laughs but also highlights the mental stress of being caught up in the mad world of pop stardom, making "You sell a hundred million records, see how you handle it" very effective. The new girls and male understudies are all good - the strength in depth of the cast is awesome".

JERSEY BOYS RAISE £60,150 FOR BBC CHILDREN IN NEED

A very special performance was held for BBC Children In Need – a gala performance of Jersey Boys at the Prince Edward Theatre where BBC presenters Gaby Roslin, Paul Ross, Vanessa Feltz, and Mike Ramsden, from BBC London News, introduced the performance which included an extra special finale with the full cast and Pudsey Bear!

The gala performance raised a fantastic total of £47,895 from ticket sales and a final total of £60,150—which included donations from bucket collections and for photos with Pudsey and the Four Seasons. Well done to everyone who contributed to this fantastic event for such a worthwhile cause.

With the world-wide success of Jersey Boys continuing - where we saw the Empire State Building in New York lit from top to bottom in Jersey Boys colours on the 5 November and on the 7 November a section of 52nd Street between Broadway and 8th Avenue was renamed "Jersey Boys Walk," to honour Jersey Boys 5 year Broadway run - this 50-year Four Seasons phenomenon shows no signs of coming to an end with the movie now almost a certainty— Bob Gaudio said recently “We are working on a movie version, the papers aren’t signed, sealed and delivered, but I think by 2013 we’ll see ‘Jersey Boys’ on the big screen” - WOW! Oh What An Opening Night that will be!

As this year is drawing to a close Casey Chameleon, Ken Charmer, Ray Nichol, George Ingram and Lynn Boleyn of the UK Four Seasons Appreciation Society—and everyone in Jersey Land London—would like to wish you all a very happy and magical Christmas and a very happy, healthy, peaceful and successful New Year.
